Republicans Aggressive In Attacks Upon Democratic Administration

HOLD PRESIDENT AS RESPONSIBLE

Democratic Campaign Must Be Waged In Support Of "New Deal" Program

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 12.—The pattern of the 1936 campaign for the presidency stood out today in sharp, bold outlines.

The Democrats, perforce, must stand on the record of the Roosevelt administration and defend the new deal agencies which it has created to meet complex social and economic questions.

Republicans To Attack

The Republicans must, and will, attack. Their offensive is to be launched from the trenches that have been dug this week in the shadow of Lincoln's tomb. Those trenches went beyond the "grass roots" of mere political opposition, and penetrated the personal field.

American history records no more stinging indictment of a national administration than that drawn up and approved here in Springfield by the 8,000-odd Republicans from the prairie states of the Mississippi basin.

"We hold the president personally responsible for the record of his administration," said their platform. And then they proceeded to denounce that record as "subversive of our institutions, unsound economically, conflicting, confusing, contradictory," and finally, "un-American".

The dictionary might be searched for a long time for stronger expletives.

It means that the Armistice is over. No longer are the "brain

PA NEWC OBSERVES

While taking advantage of the beautiful weather yesterday afternoon, and driving through the country, it was reported to Pa Newc by some local friends, that they noticed a pony doing the work of a farm horse, in pulling a plough through acres of land. The farmer was accompanied by his small daughter, trailing behind.

A Loon, a graceful bird, was seen "perked" in the middle of a field off the Harlansburg road, yesterday afternoon, and despite the fact the autoists tried to move the creature, it stood in its chosen place, in a most confident and sassy manner.

One of the new type of traffic signal lights has also been placed at the intersections of East and North streets by the North Street school. This is similar to the one at Mill and Washington.

When looking at the hands of the large clock on the Diamond at an angle the time on the different faces seems to be varied by several minutes. The reason for this is that the hands are out a good way from the face and when looking at it at a certain way you see the space between the hands.

The street light at the northwestern corner of Jefferson and Washington streets was out last night.

The cement posts placed along the streets with the street signs on them remind one of the old hitching posts.

The Rural avenue hill route to the North Hill remains rough and Pa Newc gets many inquiries as to what is going to be done with it.

King George's Illness Causes Some Anxiety

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SANDRINGHAM, Eng., June 12.—Anxiety spread throughout Britain today when it was learned that King George, in the midst of his coronation celebrations, has been laid low by his second illness in less than a fortnight.

A bulletin issued by his personal physicians at Sandringham House, his country residence near the seaside in East Anglia, said:

"The king is suffering from bronchial catarrh, which is slow in disappearing, because his majesty is fatigued by his efforts of the last few weeks."

Roosevelt May Move To Prevent Strike Of Miners

Look For Executive Action With Return Of President To Washington

GUFFEY COAL BILL ACTION IS DELAYED

Large Companies In Western Pennsylvania Withdraw Support Of Guffey Bill

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Executive action to prevent the threatened strike of 450,000 soft coal miners Sunday, was expected today with President Roosevelt's return to the capital.

Presidential action is predicated on the fact that congress will be unable to act upon the Guffey bituminous coal control bill, demanded by the United Mine Workers.

The union soft coal miners of the Appalachian fields demand passage of the Guffey bill before the expiration of their working contract June 16.

Though the president may be successful in obtaining the assent of operators and miners to the revised Guffey bill, the victory will be short lived as southern and western operators already have in preparation a contest to question the constitutionality of the bill, generally termed "the little NRA".

Support Suffers.

Operator support from the east already has suffered a great loss with the announcement of withdrawal of three large companies in western Pennsylvania.

Withdrawal of the Pittsburgh Coal Co., a Mellon organization, was accompanied by similar announcements from the Union Collieries and the Jamieson Coal & Coke Co. The Mellon operated Koppers Coal Co. of West Virginia has also withheld support from the Guffey bill.

Other Pennsylvania operators continue their support for the bill. Their stand as represented by Charles O'Neil, their spokesman, is that the amended bill will obtain congressional approval and that the operators might just as well have a say in the construction of the measure.

Coast Guards Are Searching In Lake Erie For Vessel

ERIE, Pa., June 12.—After receiving reports that distress flares had been sent up on Lake Erie between Long Point, Canada, and this city, coast guardsmen cruised the lake today. At the same time a check was started with Canadian authorities to determine if any ships were crossing the lake.

Waley And Wife To Plead Guilty In Kidnaping

Husband To Go To Alcatraz For Life And Wife To Federal Women's Prison

LINDBERGH LAW TO BE INVOKED

Pleading To Federal Charges Will Eliminate Chance Of Death Penalty

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TACOMA, Wash., June 12.—Within a week Harmon Metz Waley, 28, and his wife, Margaret, 19, will kiss and say farewell forever.

He will be taken to Alcatraz Island, Uncle Sam's "Devil's Isle", in San Francisco Bay, and she to federal women's prison at either Alderson, Va., or Milan, Mich.

In cells many thousand miles apart, the Waleys, admitted participants in the Weyerhaeuser kidnaping case, will spend the remainder of their lives.

Will Plead Guilty

International News Service learned today on reliable authority that the Waleys will plead guilty when arraigned here on federal kidnaping charges — commonly known as the Lindbergh law—which were filed at the request of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings.

The Waleys, captured at Salt Lake City with approximately half of the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser ransom, consider the chance to plead guilty to the federal accusations as a "break" it was learned. This procedure means they will not "risk their necks".

By facing the federal charge the Waleys feel they will escape trial in the state courts on charges of kidnaping nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, scion to a vast timber fortune.

Deny Mahan Taken

Washington, June 12.—Persistent rumors that William Mahan, ex-convict sought as one of the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers, had been captured by federal agents, were denied by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation, today.

"Nothing to it," Hoover said.

He reiterated, however, his conviction that Mahan's arrest is a dead certainty.

Waleys Spent Only $300 Of $200,000 Ransom

MR. AND MRS. HARMON WALEY

THIS TRAPPED THEM

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Waley, arrested in Salt Lake City, say they spent only $300 of the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser kidnap money. Government agents accounted for $111,000 with the finding of $90,700 in a cache 90 miles from Salt Lake City. The Waleys were trapped when Mrs. Waley bought the cigaret case above and paid for it with a ransome note. Waley said he was "short-changed" in the division of money by William Mahan, who led "G" men a chase when he abandoned his car in Butte, Mont. In the car was $16,000 of the ransom money.

Two Men Found In Lennox Club Face Jury Trial

Bail Of Two Forfeited When They Fail To Appear And Two Enter Pleas

"NUMBER" OUTFITS ARE SHOWN TO JURY

Edward Tinstman and Joe Tomeo, arrested in connection with a raid on the Lennox club, 9½ East Washington street, were placed on trial before Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning in connection with the "numbers racket" raid at the club on May 3.

There were several others mentioned in the same indictment, among them being Samuel Creel who failed to show up this morning and whose bail was declared forfeited. Bail of Earl Shoaff, on the same indictment, was forfeited Tuesday afternoon.

Samuel Baruso and Paul D'Anna, others on the indictment, entered pleas on Tuesday afternoon.

When the trial opened a small truck load of paraphernalia, seized at the Lennox club, was brought into the court room and deposited in the space between the jury and the counsel tables. Former Local Young Man Is Fatally Hurt

Raymond Dicks Is Electrocuted Tuesday In Store At Harrisburg

Funeral services for Raymond Dicks, a former New Castle young man, who was accidentally electrocuted on Tuesday while at his work in Harrisburg, will be conducted on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, 1307 Penn street, Harrisburg. Interment is to be made in a Harrisburg cemetery.

Dicks, who ordinarily worked during the daytime at the Kresge five and ten cent store, took over the night shift this week. Early Tuesday morning, between 5 and 6 o'clock, he carried an electric light wire behind the candy counter. At 8 o'clock he was found dead. The wire carried only 110 volts and it is believed that death was not instantaneous, but that the victim was unconscious from the time of the first shock.

Mr. Dicks leaves, in addition to his parents, his wife, Mabel; a two-year-old daughter, Janet Marie, in Harrisburg; two sisters, Mrs. George Floyd, of New Castle, and Dorothy, of the Harlansburg road, and one brother, Lester, of the Harlansburg road. He was 24 years old.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 12.—Well I got a kick out of that bunch of unemployed old timers who call themselves the "Grass Root Boys."

They just met and "denounced" and "re-denounced," and give a prize to the low that called the president the most names. But they all do it.

When Mr. Hoover was in, why the other side did the same thing. In fact, I think it's the same names they called him, for neither side has ever been original enough to think of new ones.

That's what makes politics such a high class, gentlemanly game. Prize fighters meet and fight, and then are considered low brows, for saying, "Well, the best man won."

Will Rogers

Jury Says Guilty In Numbers Case

Verdict Returned In First Case—One Defendant Forfeits His Bail

TWO YOUNGSTOWN MEN ENTER PLEAS

After deliberating less than two hours Tuesday afternoon, the jury trying David McMahon and Mrs. M. Belle Emery on charges of conspiracy in the numbers racket, returned a verdict in Lawrence county court of guilty as indicted. It was the first of the long series of number cases before the June term of court.

After deliberating for an hour the jury returned and asked for instructions as to the penalties involved in the charges of conspiracy. Judge James A. Chamber informed them that the penalty was something which did not concern the jury and he was not permitted to discuss it with them. They again retired to the jury room and returned their verdict in about forty minutes.

The next case called was that against Earl Shoaf, also charged with numbers operation. When his case was called Shoaf did not answer and after calling the case three times his bail of $500 was declared forfeited. He can be tried any time he returns to New Castle in the future.

Two pleas of guilty were made late Tuesday, the first by Sim Baruso, alias Sam Baruso; and the second by Paul D'Anna, both of Youngstown, O.

LOCAL MIDDIES ON SEA CRUISE

Muse And Palus Making Cruise To Many Foreign Ports On Battleships

Two New Castle young men, George R. Muse and George R. Palus are on the Atlantic ocean at the present time on a trip that excites the envy of one reading about it. Both of them are third class midshipmen at the United States Naval academy in Annapolis and the trip is their first cruise, a part of their education.

From Hampton Roads the battleships Wyoming and Arkansas are on their way to Edinboro, Scotland. The trip over will take 15 days, the midshipmen being taught the mechanics of seamanship. At Edinboro they will have a ten-day stay and a tour of England, and from there will sail for Oslo, Norway, where they will spend another ten days.

From Oslo they go to Copenhagen for ten days and from Copenhagen to Gibraltar, where they will spend five days. From Gibraltar they go to Funchal, Madeira Islands, for a three-day stay and then back to Hampton Roads. Muse is on the Wyoming and Palus is on the Arkansas.

Muse is the son of Attorney and Mrs. George W. Muse of Fairmont avenue and Palus is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Palus of Randolph street. They expect to be in New Castle early in September for a short vacation.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 12.—President Roosevelt departed for Washington at noon today after delivering an address to the graduating class of the United States Military Academy.

U. S. MILITARY ACADEMY, WEST POINT, N. Y., June 12. — The greatest need of the world today is the assurance of permanent peace, President Roosevelt told the graduating class and assembled cadet corps of West Point here this morning.

Calling attention to the small, strictly defensive peacetime army of the United States as evidence of its own non-aggressive attitude toward its neighbors, the President declared that if the new-fledged officers contributed everywhere their service took them toward mutual friendliness and helpfulness, they would have rendered full service to their own country.

LANCASTER DOCTOR IS ON TRIAL

Star Witness To Be Called

New Jury Selected Yesterday And Trial Started After One Mistrial

DEFENDANT IS CALM AT TRIAL

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., June 12.—Richard Parker, handyman, was to take the stand in Lancaster County court today as one of the commonwealth's star witnesses against Dr. H. C. Zimmerly, 67, Mechanics Grove physician, accused of performing illegal operations one of which police are convinced resulted in the death of Mrs. Gladys Lawson, 26, Calvert, Md.

Parker was arrested with Dr. Zimmerly on narcotics charges and his lurid story of seeing the physician "hacking away at something" after the alleged operation on Mrs. Lawson spurred early investigation of the case.

Further tales of horror, rivaling yesterday's gruesome testimony which caused a woman juror to swoon and resulted in a mistrial, was anticipated as Parker nervously awaited his signal to take the stand.

Trial Is Begun

Opening its parade of witnesses when the case was begun after the mistrial, the prosecution called Arthur Smith, of near Rising Sun, Md., a farmer, who testified Dr. Zimmerly told him Mrs. Lawson was dead."

"He said he had the body on his hands and would have to cut it up or have it cut up," Smith said.

Sergeant Simmons, of the state police, told of the raid on the physician's crude "hospital" when Elsie Miller, 17, of Rising Sun, Md., was found on the operating table.

Beatrice Reynolds Trimble, a friend of the missing Lawson woman who took her to Dr. Zimmerly, maintained she did not know "what was wrong" with Mrs. Lawson when they went to the physicians.

Dr. Zimmerly, neatly attired in a dark coat and white trousers, remained unshaken as the commonwealth plunged into the lurid details of the case. He made frequent notes in a notebook and conferred frequently with his attorneys as the trial progressed.

trusters" and "the professors" at Washington to be blamed for the administration's acts and policies. Henceforth, the Republicans are going to attribute things to Franklin Delano Roosevelt himself. The quasi-personal immunity which Mr. Roosevelt has enjoyed politically since those dark and critical days of 1933, are ended. From now on it's war.

See National Pattern

The unbridled denounciation of Rooseveltian policies was sectional in character, as was the "grass roots" conference that produced it. But the expectation is that his will become a pattern for national copy.

As to what the Republicans will have to propose in place of the alphabetical agencies next year, the situation was not so clear today, in the wake of the departing delegates from the "grass roots" conference.

Their 10-point platform endorsed, in principle, much of what the Roosevelt administration has been trying to accomplish, but they condemned the methods by which it is sought to achieve the goal.

The grass rooters approved the principle of collective bargaining, written into law for the first time in section 7-A of the NIRA; they opposed child labor, also written into law again in the NIRA; they favored government aid in the field of old age pensions and unemployment insurance, although in carefully worded language; and they gave left-handed endorsement to the administration's agricultural program, the AAA, without mentioning it by name, and without going into details.

The leaders spent a good many uncomfortable hours over the AAA and the NRA. Their job was to find substitutes for these agencies that would not alienate the farmer of corn-hog-wheat belt who likes his AAA benefit check, nor the organized laborer who has enjoyed shorter hours and stabilized wages under the collective bargaining clause of the recovery act.

There were those in the convention who favored throwing both the NRA and the AAA completely out the window and going to the whole way in opposition.

But the practical politicians prevailed. And the result was a republican endorsement of the principle of collective bargaining, and a rather curious agricultural plank which might mean anything, or nothing.

WALEY AND WIFE TO PLEAD GUILTY IN KIDNAPING

pected abductress of George Weyerhaeuser, broke a Federal censorship today to tell a waiting world she is "scared" of what is coming.

"I'm being treated all right, but I'm so scared," she said, as she got to the International News Service her first comment since she was imprisoned with her husband, Horace M. Waley, 24, confessed kidnaper here last Saturday. Her admission came soon after the startling recovery of part of the $200,000 ransom notes yesterday from under a maple tree in wooded Emigration Canyon, 90 miles east of Salt Lake.

It is likely to precede only by hours her appearance before Federal Judge Tillman D. Johnson on a removal order that will take her and her ex-convict mate back along the long trail to Washington to face a possible death penalty. The captives will not sign a waiver and will fight any attempt to return them to the scene of the crime without every resource to block extradition, it was understood.

While a defense attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Waley were making an apparently futile attempt to bring legal aid to his clients it was learned:

Arrested Burning Money

1.—That Waley, contrary to first reports, was not arrested on a street corner, but had been arrested in a house while he was burning $4,000 of ransom money.

2.—That Mr. and Mrs. Waley led Department of Justice agents to the Emigration Canyon cache at 1:30 a. m. Tuesday and aided by automobile lights and flashlights dug up the ant-hill and found the money wrapped in oiled cloth and protected by gunnysack.

Meanwhile the entire west was combed for William Grant, alias Mahan, accused of complicity in the kidnaping. He is reported to have the key to the remainder of the ransom money which was paid by the wealthy Weyerhaeuser family for the return unharmed of tousle-headed 9-year-old George.

Already approximately $116,000 of the marked bills are accounted for with the recovery of the cache here yesterday and Waley's confession that he burned $4,000. About $16,000 was obtained in the automobile from which Mahan fled in Butte Sunday and the remainder was spent by the Waleys.

Judges R. Lawrence Hildebrand and James A. Chambers, sitting in courtroom number one. They set Thursday morning, June 13, as a time for hearing.

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey was vehement in his denial of the charges. "I not only did not make any such statements to the grand jury, but I did not know of any such bill being before the legislature," said he. (The bill referred to is probably the bill which would permit a state lottery in Pennsylvania.)

Lamoree's Affidavit

Now comes the defendant and moves the court to quash the indictment for the following reasons, viz.:

First: During the deliberations of the grand jury in the grand jury room on the matters averred in the indictment, Mont L. Ailey, district attorney for Lawrence county, among other things, advised the jury in substance as follows:

"That the bill charges the defendant with running and maintaining a lottery and there is now a bill pending before the legislature, and that if it went through, which he thought it probably would, the defendants would not be convicted because they could appeal or continue their cases, and if the legislature would pass the law they could not then be convicted. That the penalty in such cases did not amount to much, that the court might just fine them, and the probabilities were that the court would fine the head men and would not bother much with the other fellows, and in his opinion it was a matter for the court to dispose of."

Defendant further moves the court to quash the fourth count in the indictment for the following reasons:

Second: The count is not supported by the information, in that the information does not aver or allege that the defendant did procure, permit, suffer and allow persons to collect and assemble in his house, room and other places under his control for the purpose of playing at, staking and betting upon such game, device of address, hazard, money or other valuable things.

Third: The fourth count avers two distinct crimes or offenses.

JOHN G. LAMOREE,
Attorney for Defendant.

Ailey's Answer

Now, this 12th day of June, A. D. 1935, comes Mont L. Ailey, district attorney in and for Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, and makes answer to the question of fact raised in the first of defendant's reasons in support of his motion to quash as follows:

First: The whole of the allegation contained in the first paragraph of the reasons in support of defendant's motion is false and untrue.

Second: Demand is made upon the defendant and his counsel to produce in open court the person or persons responsible for this dishonest reflection upon the conduct of the Lawrence county courts.

MONT L. AILEY,
District Attorney.

identification slips, which had been pasted upon them at the time of the arrests.

Identify Exhibits.

The greater part of the forenoon was taken up in identifying the different exhibits. Sergeant E. J. Donnovan, state policeman who had headed the raid at the Lennox club, was the witness who made the identifications. Each article was taken up and identified separately.

Donnovan said that when he visited the place he had a warrant for Earl Shoaff, but did not have warrants for some of the others who were found. The boxes which were identified contained papers and number slips used in conducting the business.

Considerable interest appeared to be manifested in the Lennox club case, as the court room was well filled with witnesses and spectators. The defendants were represented by Attorneys John G. Lamoree, Marshall G. Matheny and John Powers, while the commonwealth was represented by District Attorney Mont L. Ailey and W. Walter Braham, special counsel for Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard. Examination of the witnesses centered on the methods of operating the business.

Cars Collide On Harbor Road Hill

When automobiles operated by William Collins, 232 East Washington street, and Mike Bibro, Cleveland, sideswiped each other on the hill this side of Harbor at 12:10 a. m. today the sedan operated by Collins was forced between two guard posts over the hillside. The car plunged down the hill, but after going about 30 feet, was stopped by the brush on the hillside. Collins' wife and Clara Frankovitch, who were in the car with him, were slightly injured.

According to Highway Patrolman Hubley, Collins was driving up the hill toward New Castle and Bibro was driving his car down the hill toward Harbor. Bith were too near the center of the road, according to the highway patrolman, and the crash occurred.

A smart outfit to wear over your bathing suit consists of polka dotted shorts, a plain white linen jacket and a polka dot scarf tie to tuck in the neckline. This is very practical, since you can easily add a button-down-the-front skirt and be completely dressed for the street.

MORRISON-GALBREATH PITTSBURGH WEDDING

Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college, officiated at the wedding Tuesday evening, in Bellevue, of his son, Dale S. Galbreath, to Verle Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Morrison, of Bellevue. He was assisted by Dr. Pollock, pastor of the 11th United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, in performing the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock in the bride's home.

Dorothy Morrison, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Robert F. Galbreath, Jr., of New Wilmington, a brother of the groom, was best man. Beautiful wedding music was played by Mrs. Robert F. Galbreath, Jr., preceding and during the service.

The pretty exchange of vows took place before an embankment of ferns and palms, combined with colorful cut flowers, in the living room of the Morrison home. The bride was a lovely picture in her wedding gown of white silk lace, fashioned on modish lines, with long sleeves and high neck. A long lace veil fell from a coronet of twisted tulle. Her flowers were bride's roses in white and pink.

The bridesmaid appeared in a pink silk net gown, similar to her sister's and she carried an arm bouquet of harmonizing roses. Mrs. Morrison, the bride's mother, wore an attar of roses lace gown, with which a corsage of deep pink roses contrasted. Mrs. Galbreath was costumed in a beautiful gown of pink chiffon, with a corsage of deep pink roses and blue flowers.

Forty guests were served a delicious buffet supper afterwards, there being among the guests, several from this vicinity, in addition to Dr. and Mrs. Galbreath, and their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, another son John, and two daughters, Mary and Ruth, and Mrs. J. N. Smiley, of New Wilmington.

The young couple are on a wedding trip in the east, and when they return they will reside in Sharon, where the groom is identified with the S. J. Mack company. The new Mrs. Galbreath attended school in Pittsburgh. Mr. Galbreath attended the University of Wisconsin and Westminster college, receiving his B. B. A. degree on Monday of this week, with the 1935 class. He is a member of the Phi Pi Phi fraternity.

HIGH PRICES

SAYS the Alexander Hamilton Institute: "The effects of the supreme court's decision invalidating the NRA which may be viewed as salutary are the removal of influences which tend either to maintain an uneconomically high cost level or an uneconomically restricted output. Their removal ought to conduce to the more desirable road to improved purchasing power—a business revival.

"The trouble with much of the recovery effort put forth has been the mistaking of the symptom for the disease—of the reflection for the reality. A price rise can, of course, be brought about by curtailment of production. This is the creation of scarcity values. If a national income should remain perfectly stable, the prices of all goods might be raised by curtailing production of all. The value of one postage stamp is immeasurably increased if all others of the issue are destroyed. But a price rise of this type is unhealthy simply because it is a rise which originates in scarcity value. The price rise which helps is one which is a reflection of rising output—not one which proceeds from curtailed output. In the former case, purchasing power is being augmented by the same process which brings about the rise in price. In the other it is not. And it has been a matter of no little concern that we have been engineering a price rise by means of restricted output."

This is undoubtedly true. The collegiate economists have been right, undoubtedly in holding that rising prices, and rising wages, accompany periods of prosperity. But such increases in price levels must come about naturally and through universal economic laws. They accompany an increased demand for goods, and a concomitant increase in employment after we have reached the bottom of a depression and started upward. They usually accompany also a balanced governmental budget—as is now announced in Great Britain—and a gradual return of confidence because of the assurance of such a budget balance and the prospect of lower taxes in the fairly near future.

NEW WRINKLE

Of the too frequent collision between drunken driver and sober pedestrian we have heard a great deal. Piloting an engine of destruction, his senses befuddled with drink, the drunken driver did all the damage and got all the blame. Now in Boston the situation has been reversed and it develops that a sober driver has run over a drunken pedestrian. Who is to blame?

The judge of the municipal court in Boston who heard the case says that the drinker is still to blame, and if not criminally guilty, at least the cause of the accident. And, moreover, the sober driver is entirely guiltless. He sizes it up as follows:

"If certain people insist upon filling themselves with liquor and staggering about the streets until they get killed, people who are driving the cars which hit them cannot be necessarily held liable criminally merely because they drove the vehicle which caused actual death."

THE STORY OF AGUINALDO

There is a moral to the story of General Emilio Aguinaldo, Philippine revolutionist, who recently voted for the independence of the islands.

Thirty-five years ago he was headline news on the front pages of American papers. He led a short and bitter war to drive the Stars and Stripes out of the Philippines, was captured at Palawan by General Fred Funston, took the oath of allegiance and retired to peaceful private life.

Recently he and his entire family appeared at the polls and voted for the Philippine independence, thus helping to gain with the ballot what he could not win with the sword.

This is another example of the social evolution of the world, of the intelligent manner in which problems are solved today over the crude methods employed even 35 years ago. It demonstrates again that peaceful methods finally win out. The moral is applicable to troubles ranging from minor labor disputes and the violence which so often results from them to the more involved international complications which result in wars.

BAILING OUT

That "captive parachute" near Trenton, N. J., for people to practice jumping, in which Amelia Earhart Putnam and her husband are interested, may be starting something.

It looks like a practical contribution to aviation. People are flying this year in the United States far more than ever before, and far more than the people of any other country.

"What goes up must come down," and sometimes it comes down fast and hard. Air accidents diminish, per person and plane, but there are still, and may always be, plenty of them. Parachutes in airplanes are as plentiful as life preservers in ships. It is an awkward and terrifying experience to leap into the air at a great height for the first time, trusting merely to a folded pack on one's back and a string to pull after so many seconds. Preliminary practice should be possible for all air travelers.

This, however, may be an unexpected step toward the creation of a new sport in America. The Russians, more airplane-crazy than we are, though far less advanced, have developed a mania for parachute-jumping. They go up in airplanes by thousands just for the fun of jumping all over the landscape. The Putnams may yet have us doing that.

But why are they hitch-hikers when they neither hitch nor hike?

A public official needn't worry so long as his only critics are those who want his job.

Eliminating poverty will be nice; but if everybody gets rich, who will be left to snub?

An enemy has one advantage over a friend. People don't snub him any worse when they get rich.

LET YOUR GRIEVING GO

THERE MUST be an end to this sighing and sobbing. There must be an end, somehow, to this great grief that is yours. . . . This sad face must lose its deep lines. This melancholy must be broken by laughter again. . . . Sooner or later you must unclasp your arms from about the beloved dead and live here and now, on this earth, in this minute.

One whom you loved and who made your life beautiful and strong is gone from you. . . . Your life seems empty. You are desolate. And all the little consolations are less than nothing to you. You walk the streets and happy faces seem heartless in your eyes. You sit alone in your darkness and the consciousness of your loss rises around you in a bitter flood and life seems unbearable. . . . And you do not see how you can go on with it without that dear one who is gone.

And every human being who has lost and grieved will understand you and reach out in tender sympathy.

Nevertheless you must give up your grief. You must drive it within you. You must live again. Although it rises within you like an intermittent fever, like a nagging pain, you must turn away from its embrace. . . . It is no life-long friend to you. You must not keep it at your side. This friendship with hooded grief is treason to that dear one who once walked through life with you. Commune with grief too long and you will forget your friend in your own pity for your loss. You will walk alone in the shadows between life and death and mix the bitterness of death with the sweetness of life. The living with a true instinct will turn away from you. Your lost friend will retreat from you, as you cease to be the one he loved on this earth.

Grief should be strong and cleansing. It should be majestic and joyful. It should be your friend, never your foe. . . . And if your grief is not thus for you, it is your mortal enemy and you must let it go.

TURNING THE TABLES

"Give me the names of men who know you well."
The grave employer said. "Before
I hire
A servant it is only fair to tell
That always of his fitness I inquire.
Where last you worked and, say,
where once before
Will be enough. I'll question only two.
Come back tomorrow. You need stay
no more.
I want to know what sort of man
are you."

"Quite right," the man replied. "Now in good turn
Give me the names of men who've worked for you.
Something of you I'd also like to learn
Before I undertake your work to do.
I think it only fair that I should make
A few inquiries of my own to find
If you treat servants civilly or take Advantage of their need to be unkind.

"As master do you treat your help
with scorn,
Snap orders at them, since they must obey,
And think that every insult must be borne
Without resentment for the wage you pay?
Do former servants still remain your friends?
Did you appreciate the things they tried to do?
I want to know—so much on this depends—
If it were wise to try to work for you."

IMAGINED ACHES AND PAINS DESTROY ALL ZEST FOR LIFE

It is so easy to imagine that you have the symptoms of one disorder or another.

Every time you hear people talking about others who are ill, mentioning certain symptoms, you immediately compare your own feelings with theirs.

You become interested in the statements of alleged sufferers.

Within a short time you find you have something of the sort.

Very likely the one who described his symptoms to you only imagined he had the disease of which he spoke so vividly; you let him work on your imagination.

And so it goes from one to another.

There are some persons to whom you cannot mention an ache or a pain that they cannot match with something similar.

These imaginative people lead sad fearful lives.

They are positive that they have not long to live; usually the one who expects to die soon lives beyond the usual span.

If you have real symptoms of disease, consult a docotr at once.

Delay is dangerous and wasted time might be used to restore health sooner.

But don't let your imagination take the joy out of life.

As we understand it, the president of a corporation deserves a $200,000 raise because little stockholders can't do anything but howl.

Maybe the law can't make people good, but it has transformed the stingy taxpayer into a philanthropist.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:29. Sun rises tomorrow 4:30.

About all that congress and the legislatures do is to try to raise money or spend it—or both. And there is always the fighting about the money.

Those who fear the future are likely to fumble the present.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

"Yes, said the ticket-seller of a small movie house, "occasionally a patron leaves the window forgetting his change."

"And what do you do in a case like that?"

"Oh," said the ticket-seller, "I always wrap on the window with a sponge."

A Denver judge ruled that a ten cent sandwich constitutes a meal. In the old saloon days a sandwich in the center of the table also constituted a meal and some of the sandwiches remained on the table until they dried up and blew away. The law demanded that food should be served with drink.

Still, you never heard a wife nagging a perfect husband.

Things even up. Having running water in the house saves enough time to kill the roaches attracted by it.

"I haven't any case but I have some money," said the criminal when he called on the wealthy criminal lawyer.

"How much money have you?" asked the lawyer.

"I can scare up $100,000."

"Why, man, I will guarantee that you will never go to prison with that amount of money."

And that was true. He went there broke.

Everyone has his favorite economies, and extravagances. The average man saves today and spends tomorrow.

If he says he is working his way through college he is offering something that won't sell without the help of sympathy.

Nearly everybody demands his money's worth for what he spends, but nobody expects it in return for the taxes he pays.

Geezer—I've about decided to get married.

Gumboil—Won't it increase your expenses too much?

Geezer—No, I figure it will double the life of my tires and cut my gasoline bill in two.

Scientists guarantee us that this earth will last for a million years more yet. We are not concerned so much about that as we are about how long we will last.

No boss would ever have a kick coming if his stenographer could spell and type as efficiently as she can chew gum.

"Don't you know that you are singing off the key?" the leader of the choir inquired of the handsome new tenor who had just blown in.

"Yes, I know it " responded the tenor. "In my opinion the piece was written in the wrong key in the first place."

A radical is loyal to some present day radical; a conservative is loyal to some radical who has been dead a long time.

How to become a great leader. Find out what the people are sore about and then cuss it.

STICKS TO THE END

Even from wise men the passion for glory is the last surviving desire to be eradicated.

—Tacitus.

Mr. Hints and Dints: I am reminded of the ankle-length pantalets females used to wear. They were made with detachable buttons for little girls, tucked, embroidered, ruffled and starched, exposed six or more inches below the skirt, and were as much a part of her tout ensemble as her collar. They were changed several time a day, hence the convenience of buttoning them on—they just had to be fresh and crisp and clean.

You surely won't let the style-makers bring that style back on us, will you? Of course you'd say bare legs are worse, and they are, but, between the two, I'd take to men's breeches all right.

AN OLD ONE.

Some people believe so strongly in the pursuit of happiness that they make themselves miserable trying to get more out of life than there is in it.

Can you answer this one? Who founded Hull House?

SLOUGH

Do you say "Slough"
Which rhymes with Cough?
Or is it "Slough"
Which rhymes with Bough?
Perhaps it's "Slough"
Is that Enough?
(Yes, Thanks! Ed.)

Armies should be for defense, not defiance.

Success isn't a definite achievement. It just means doing better than any of your classmates.

We noticed the old-fashioned torture of burning the feet of people to make them tell where the money is, is being practiced again in some parts of the country. Wonder what some of those folks who are against capital punishment would feel like after they had their feet burned until they gave up their dough.

There is no buying power in starvation wages.

"Oh-h-h Sandy, that popcorn smells grand!"

"Aye, it does, lass; we'll go back and drive a wee bit closer."

The reason a lot of people eat fish on Friday is only because it is a change of diet and the fish dealers make an effort to get the best for that day.

Well, the old time saloon wasn't allowed to come back. It was a place free of women.

Another good way to keep track of distant relatives is to win a lottery prize.

Any performer gets more money if he has a manager. You see, he can't brag on himself as a manager can.

Parsons in politics are just as much out of place as politics in the pulpit.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Mike, the thug, was convicted of robbing an apartment. The judge, ready to sentence him said: "Mike, is there anything you wish to say for yourself?"

"Yes, there is," answered Mike. "I wish to enter a strenuous objection to bein' identified by a man who kept his head under the covers all the time I was in the room."

Any government is bad which makes idleness more profitable than industry.

Any bum can bluff the police if he's smart. He can say he is getting material for a book.

A federal judge has ruled that people can make wine in their own homes. But, regardless of this decision, most of 'em can't. Much of the home-made wine that I have tested was sloppy, terribly sloppy, and you wouldn't know that it was intended to be wine if somebody didn't remind you of the fact.

The American manufacturer who made panties invisible, now plans to take the itch out of the woolies. Soon folks will not know if they have anything on or not when things cannot be seen or felt.

ONE AT A TIME

A missionary making his way thru a backwoods region came upon an old woman sitting outside her cabin. He talked with her about religion and finally asked her if she didn't know that there was a Day of Judgment coming.

"Why, no," said the old lady. "I hadn't heard of that. Won't there be more'n one day?"

"No, my friend. Only one day," was the reply.

"Well, then," she said, "I don't reckon I can get to go. We've only got one mule and my old man has to go everywhere first."

American: Feeling poor when we are saving and becoming richer: feeling rich when we are spending and making ourselves poorer.

"The President has betrayed our cause" usually means: "The President didn't reward me with a nice job!"

The most dangerous place in New Castle is the corner of Mill and North street. More reckness driving takes place there and most every day people come near being run over by drivers who just fly around the corner. A policeman for a time there would be just the thing.

MOTHER

"A kiss from my mother made me a painter." —Benjamin West.

"All that I am or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother."
—Abraham Lincoln.

"My mother was the source from which I derived the guiding principles of my life." —John Wesley.

"Back in the brick yard of Philadelphia my mother taught me the principles of success."
—John Wanamaker.

"Whatever I have done in life has simply been due to the fact that when I was a child my mother daily read with me a part of the Bible, and made me learn a part of it by heart."
—Wendell Phillips.

Some men's energy is like that of a dog chasing his tail. It gets them dizzy, but gets them nowhere.

"Keep your temper, laddie," said an old Scotchman to a rather fiery tempered son. "Never quarrel wi' an angry person, especially a woman. Mind ye, a soft answer pays best. It's commanded—and forbye it makes them far madder than anything you could say."

The world is unjust. Thousands of monuments to the conquerors of armies, and not one to man who licked the smoking habit.

Civilized people are those who spank a small boy for shooting a songbird and give a man a medal for shooting other men.

A sign by the roadside as you enter a western town says:
4,076 people died last year of gas.
39 inhaled it.
37 put a lighted match to it.
And 4,000 stepped on it.

Financiers say our money is no good, but all of life's rewards seem like that after you have won the things.

We were invited to a "Barnyard Lunch" a few days ago. The more we imagine what that kind of a lunch would be the more confused we get. We are sorry we could not go..

When a man thinks he is at peace with his God, it means he is a peace with himself.

The world owes much to small men. It was a runt who invented the first weapon and lever to make himself equal to a big guy.

Ah, well; every country needs a party of protest, whether it's the Democratic or the Coughlin.

The World At A Glance

Ickes Once Republican.
Both Parties Respect Him.
Other Cabinet Members Strong.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 12.—The man developing into the most potent of the Roosevelt cabinet members was a Republican. Yet he turns out to be the most persistent New Dealer among the Rooseveltian advisers. Harold L. Ickes of Chicago is one man that both Republicans and Democrats treat with respect. He is a fearful fighter.

The secretary of the interior does not play politics," or deviate. He not only wastes no money, but he is niggardly in handing it out for "worthy" projects.

His investigating force — termed the "Secret 600"—under Louis Glavis has the keenest eye for shady transactions that ever has been observed in the United States.

The Republicans wish Ickes would fall out with the Roosevelt administration. But he will not, and in the 1936 election probably will prove the most valuable cabinet member Mr. Roosevelt has.

A photographer of the new, art type who has been making pictures of PWA undertakings said to this writer today:

"Within a year or two the American people will begin to realize what a contribution has been made to a betterment of living through the PWA. Ickes selects carefully. His projects have a permanent value. They will pay dividends.

"His deliberation and care of course slows up the spending of money. Harry Hopkins may be more popular for a while. He is for any sort of work by which to get money to the people. Hopkins is on top now, as a spender. In the long run, however, it will be Ickes who will be remembered."

TWO OTHERS

The president has two other cabinet members whose potency will increase—Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace.

With the fall of the NRA, the government returns to its normal status. Thus the cabinet again becomes the power, while the superfunctionaries of the New Deal fade.

Hull is for stabilization and overseas trade. He is helped immensely by what many papers termed an attack on the New Deal—the first statements of Stanley Baldwin as new British prime minister. Baldwin made a typical British statement for trade and monetary peace. That is what Hull seeks. There may be a rapid rapproachment now.

Hull has been overshadowed by money theorists for two years. He has been forced to abide by New Deal moves which he believed economically unsound. (And there was no greater economist in the senate than Cordell Hull.)

Joining with Hull is the voice of Secretary Wallace. The secretary of agriculture is bespeaking a new political-economic conception to farmers—that is, new to farmers. They must join hands with the world or be prepared for declining prices.

WALLACE SPEAKS

Says Secretary Wallace concerning cotton prices (in July issue of Foreign Affairs):

"The situation will get worse rather than better unless the American people are willing to start loaning money again to foreign nations, or unless the foreign nations are willing and able to continue to send us large quantities of gold, or unless the United States is willing to accept greatly increased quantities of imports. There is no other way out. The showdown is coming, and cotton will typify the situation better than any other commodity because it is our greatest single export.

"It is exceedingly difficult for the people of the United States to realize that they are no longer a pioneer debtor nation. A high tariff does a pioneer debtor nation very little harm. As a matter fact such a nation may require a high tariff in order to make sure that there will be a sufficient excess of exports over imports to pay the interest on the money which is owed abroad. As a pioneer debtor nation, the United States was well warranted in placing heavy emphasis on cotton, which was its biggest single export. But since the World War the United States has been a mature creditor nation, though it has kept to the habits of a pioneer debtor nation.

"The conflict between habits and the facts has been soul-wrenching for the American people. Those who profess to be 100 per cent American in their attitude insist that there shall be no increase in the imports into the United States and that all goods should be carried as nearly as possible in American bottoms and that American tourists should stay at home as much as possible. The pioneer prejudices of the American people would, if carried to their most complete expression, completely destroy foreign purchasing power, and hence the foreign market for American cotton.

"Strangely enough, the same pioneer prejudice which tends to destroy the foreign market for American cotton is also strenuously against the use of the centralizing power of government to enable the farmers of the United States to adjust their cotton acreage to the resulting loss in exports. Typical so-called 100 per cent Americanism, therefore, tends to insist that American farmers shall produce to the limit for a market that doesn't exist. Such a procedure, of course, would mean a return to 5-cent cotton, 40-cent wheat, 10-cent corn and $2 hogs. American farmers will not stand for this."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NO ROUGH ANIMALS

To oil men the world over the word "wildcat" means unproved petroleum producing territory, but to one laywoman the word meant a different thing.

In Hidalgo County, Texas, a few miles from the Sam Fordyce oil field is a tract of good land which is owned by a woman who lives in Wisconsin.

Recently a well known oil operator decided to make an effort to obtain an oil and gas lease on the land. He wrote to the owner telling her he would like to lease the tract for "wildcat" purposes. In reply he received a letter burning with indignation.

"This land was bought for good land," she wrote. "I have kept the taxes paid on it as good land, and it is good land, with no wildcats on it."

That all modern railroad speed-records were set by stream-line trains.

Girls At Camp Give Names To Their "Cabins"

Sleeping Quarters At Y. W. C. A. Camp Christened By Campers

Names plucked from fairy tale books have been utilized by the young girls at Camp East Brook to designate their various "cabins," or sleeping quarters.

The "Enchanted Castle" has as its happy inmates Isabel Braham, Lois Balph, Margy Horner, Margie Kalbfleish, Peggy Thayer and Betty Ann Sands. Miss Marian Wilson is in charge.

In the "Land of the Winkies" are Caddie Wallace, Helen Connery, Mary Ann Bell, Nancy Gilliland, Patty Preston, Nancy Rugh and Gloria Levin. Miss Louise Davies is in charge.

"Wonderland" is populated by Jean Ann Covert, Diana Elder, Dawna Lee, Betty Milliken, Violet Tobin and Sara Mae Studebaker. Miss Helen Haines is in charge.

And in the "Land of Nod" are the following wide-awake young misses: Wilma Morris, Joanne Preston, Shirley Tobin, Shirley Bishop, Phyllis Ferver and Dot Wallace.

Every morning the campers put their cabins in order and to the neatest cabin goes the honor pennant. This honor was won Tuesday morning by the Land of Nod girls.

Miss Marguerite White, business director for the camp, said yesterday that several additional girls had signed up for this first camp period since it opened on Monday afternoon, lured by the bright, warm weather. The next two camp periods are full and there are waiting lists for each.

Presbytery Has Session Tuesday

Shenango Presbytery Meeting Takes Place At New Bedford Church

PLAN ORDINATION OF YOUNG MINISTER

On Tuesday at a meeting of the Shenango Presbytery in the Hopewell Presbyterian church, of New Bedford, Edwin A. Shoemaker, pastor-elect of Westfield Presbyterian church, was received as a licentiate from the Clarion Presbytery, and successfully passed his examination for ordination to the gospel ministry.

The young minister will be ordained and installed as pastor of the Westfield church at an adjourned meeting of the Presbytery on Thursday evening, June 20, in that church. He made a splendid impression with the Presbyterian clergy yesterday and showed an excellent knowledge of all subjects required in a minister's education. It was only last month that he was graduated from Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh. Previous to that he had attended Grove City college and Princeton Seminary.

Seth C. Morrow, well known Wampum young man, appeared for examination to be taken under care of the Presbytery as a student for the ministry. He was graduated from Bethany college, Bethany, W. Va., last week, and will enter Princeton Seminary to continue his studies.

Rev. Charles Z. Bell of Ellwood City, moderator of the Presbytery, presided through the day. The morning session opened at 10:00 o'clock.

Dr. Robert Black of the Carlisle Presbytery, Synodical Secretary of Christian Education, gave an address on "Presbyterian Youth Leagues."

Lunch at noon was served by women of the Hopewell church.

In the afternoon came reports of the commissioners to the General Assembly, Elder Clarence Moreland, of Sharpsville, Rev. W. J. Holmes, of West Middlesex, and Dr. S. A. Kirkbride of New Wilmington. After the examinations of Edwin Shoemaker and Seth Morrow, routine business was transacted and reports of various committees submitted. Plans are underway to revise the Presbytery manual, and a report on this subject was received.

The next regular Presbytery meeting will be in September at the Mt. Herman Presbyterian church.

News Briefs From City Hall

Police received a report last night that boys were acting disorderly at Jefferson and Home streets.

A crowd of boys, who apparently have ambitions to have a quartet, practiced singing at Cascade and East Washington street last night, police were told.

Police went to the 300 block in Division street last night, but a man who was alleged to have been causing trouble, left before their arrival.

Police were requested to stop boys from playing baseball in Pollock avenue yesterday.

City cruiser cars operated in different sections last night in the hope of apprehending persons who shoot off fireworks. No arrests were made.

In 1770's when Captain Cook touched the coast of California he had a map, prepared beforehand, of course, that showed California as an island.

Trap Weyerhaeuser Kidnapers

A 20-cent cigaret case and a couple of young ladies who knew how to use their heads resulted in the capture of two of the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers in Salt Lake City, Utah, yesterday. Miss Edythe Morley, 24, left, clerk in the store, sold Mrs. Harmon M. Waley a cigaret case and turned the bill she received over to Miss Marion Samuel, 19, right, cashier in the store. She in turn handed the bill over to a detective, with the result that Mrs. Waley and her husband are in the custody of government agents and are alleged to have confessed to their part in the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 12.—Gov. George H. Earle believes college graduates should follow the example of his illustrious great-uncle, General "Mad" Anthony Wayne, in honor of whom this college town was named.

Flying here from Harrisburg, the governor addressed the commencement exercises at Waynesburg College today at which he was given the honorary degree of doctor of literature.

"We need more of General Wayne's daring, backed by the same kind of sober common sense, in our life today," Governor Earle told the graduating class. "We need more of his imagination, to envision the complex affairs of our world in their entirety. Above all, we need more of his keen appreciation of realities, and his eagerness to grapple with them.

"If I were to have one word of advice to give you, it would be that you do as Mad Anthony did, make sure of your ground, then fight to the last ditch."

Renew Demand For Sales Tax

Agitation For General Manufacturer's Sales Tax Develops At Washington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Demands for a general manufacturers' sales tax developed again today as house leaders approved a drive for the renewal of the expiring miscellaneous sales taxes that yield $475,000,000 a year.

Spokesmen for industries bearing the brunt of these special sales taxes, including the automobile and oil industries, are urging congress to enact a general levy on all industry.

The initial effort to substitute a manufacturers' sales levy for the expiring special taxes is slated to be made in the ways and means committee. Committee leaders, however, already have turned thumbs down on the proposal.

The taxation subcommittee, headed by Rep. Sam Hill (D) of Washington, recommended a two-year extension of the present special taxes which automatically expire June 30. Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina, plans to obtain quick approval of the full ways and means committee and perhaps bring a tax bill before the house this week.

With the treasury badly needing revenue, the leaders are anxious to get legislation through this month, and thus prevent a lapse of the taxes because such levies cannot be adopted retroactively.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, 11 arrests on charges as follows: Violation of parking 1, drunkenness and disorderly conduct 2, drunkenness and begging 1, drunkenness, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest 1, and drunkenness 6.

Citizens who believe a policeman's life is a path of roses and earn their $115 each month with the greatest of ease, should know some of the troubles they go through to serve the public. For instance, one policeman had to engage in a combination wrestling-fistic match yesterday to capture a prisoner and during the struggle his shirt and cap were badly damaged and his trousers were covered with dirt. On the same day a woman bit him on the leg and worse than that, she committed the unpardonable offense of spitting in his face. Had she been a man it is probable the surgeon would have been busy for some time with needle and catgut.

The police have a different life than a fireman but the latter's career is also fraught with trouble. They are paid about the same salary as a policeman and not long ago the writer saw them virtually eating smoke when they fought the New Castle hospital blaze.

Dr. William L. Steen, city health officer, stated yesterday that he anticipates a big drop in contagion here. During the last few weeks of school, measles were on the rampage but during the past few days contagion already has taken a drop. He admonished parents today that should any child contract measles or any other communicable illness the fact should be reported immediately so that the proper quarantine measures can be taken.

Apparently council is of a unanimous opinion that all of the projects started sometime ago by the RWD and city should be completed before any new jobs are started, the expected resumption of work being expected about July 1. As yet city officials do not know the stipulations under which the new allocation of moneys will be made. According to Councilman Hoyland it is improbable more streets than can be paved will be torn up this summer. Only work on those which council knows can be completed before winter will be started. Councilmen do not want to see streets torn up and not paved before bad weather sets in. If such should occur people would have a very difficult time getting coal hauled to their homes.

Due to the closing of school for the summer vacation there will not be as many police required on day turn as formerly, according to Chief Haven, who has assigned two day turn officers to work night shift to relieve two night police who have gone on a vacation....Cruiser cars will head all funeral processions for the time being, the motorcycle having been temporarily stored in the police patrol barn.....Councilman Joseph Alexander declares his intention of having arrested all persons who act disorderly at Cascade park. Pat Kearns is the policeman at the park and it is reported another officer will be hired by concessionaires to save patrons embarrassment while at the city's recreation center.

MAKE MANY AWARDS AT LOCAL FLOWER SHOW

Exhibition Here Most Successful

Large Crowd Sees Exhibits In Cathedral Lobby On Tuesday

FIRST SHOW IN PAST FIVE YEARS

Hundreds of Lawrence county flower lovers visited the 1935 flower show of the Lawrence County Garden club at the Cathedral on Tuesday afternoon and evening and went away knowing that for the past five years the garden folk and the public in general has been missing a lot.

Tuesday's successful exhibition marked the resumption of the club's annual shows after a five-year lapse brought about chiefly by the depression.

Visitors from near and distant points joined New Castle residents yesterday and marveled with them at the beauty of the flowers. Arranged by their sponsors, the decorative and competitive displays excelled exhibits of past shows and won generous commendation from out-of-town judges who awarded the ribbons.

Exhibits Are In Lobby

The main exhibits of the show itself were spread through the lobby of the building while commercial growers' displays occupied a part of the porch. The Cathedral entrance was decorated for the occasion.

Upon two long tables, running the length of the lobby, the exhibits rested and to the side of the lobby was an educational exhibit. At one end of the hall was a "wild life" exhibition.

Ladies of the county garden club, organized in March, '924, welcomed visitors from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until the closing hour of 10 at night. They had planned the show, had managed its arrangement and remained until late last night to greet the many flower fanciers who saw their efforts.

Three of the officiating judges came from Youngstown and three came from Sewickley and all competitive displays were viewed at noon. Blue ribbons were awarded first place winner, white ribbons second place winners and yellow ribbons for third place.

The judges were Mrs. Herman Brantmiller, Mrs. Louis Heller, Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Triggs, all of Youngstown, and Albert Hunt, Fred Clark and Thomas Hoskins, all of Sewickley. The six were the club's guests at an informal luncheon yesterday.

To help the ladies all day long were Boy Scouts of Troop 18 of the Highland U. P. church and Girl Scouts of Troops 1 and 16.

As an economyy move, the club members had collected old potato sacks in the winter and had washed them and fringed their edges so as to make presentable table covers for the show. This won the ladies praise.

The "wild life" display was arranged by City Forrester Owen Penfield Fox and Senior high science teachers and represented several hours of hard work on the part of the sponsors.

Honor Oak Street School

Likewise, the educational division exhibits, in which the Oak Street school won the traveling school cup for the finest and largest exhibit, represented many hours of planning and toil. Many schools presented posters and other educational, displays carrying messages urging wild life and soil protection. Oak Street had a large table project which protrayed the harm of soil erosion.

Mrs. Ingals Places High

Because her exhibits won the greatest number of blue ribbons (first place), Mrs. C. Allan Ingals was awarded what is known as the sweepstakes cup.

Mrs. William Howley, for her excellent sponsorship of garden club work in city schools, was awarded the school endeavor cup. Mrs. Rebecca Royce was awarded the Brown cup for the most artistic basket of roses.

Every member of the garden club served well, with Mrs. C. Allan Ingals, their president, predicting that "we'll have a greater show next year." The club's first public exhibition was held in a downtown storeroom in 1924 when the membership numbered five.

Other officers are Mrs. Walter C. Eckenroad, first vice president; Mrs. Howley, second vice president; Mrs. Albert Treser, secretary; Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, corresponding secretary; Mrs. S. D. Pearson, member-at-large and general chairman of the show, and Mrs. William Kennedy, treasurer.

Two Are Caught.

Help Yourself, Says China.

Rally 'Round.

The Brain Bath.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A SPOKESMAN for the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers, who wrote that he and his associates were "well educated," and could not be caught, was mistaken. A lady kidnaper, Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, and her husband, arrested, have confessed. She was caught when passing a ransom bill. The hideout where the little boy was kept hidden in a closet has been found.

William Mahan, ex-convict, another "educated" kidnaper, abandoned his automobile in Butte, with $15,155 of the "hot" ransom money in it. Government men think they will get him.

That "hot" money is not as popular as it was when the kidnapers were planning their crime.

CHINA, BECAUSE she cannot do otherwise, yields in full to Japan's demands. That is the news from Tientsin and it happens because the 400,000,000 Chinese are not prepared for war, whereas the 60,000,000 Japanese ARE prepared.

"Yielding" probably will not save China from another heavy loss of territory. It is predicted that the young Chinese Emperor, Japan's figurehead in Manchukuo, will be moved over and back to the old imperial palace, there to sit again, as the Japanese imperial dummy.

All this is not our business, for it is happening in Asia. We have plenty to do here.

FRANK O. LOWDEN, former governor of Illinois and an able citizen, urges Democrats to rally 'round the Republican standard and save the Constitution from the danger that menaces it in "high places." Mr. Lowden asks:

"Are we to discard the American form of government for imported philosophies?"

Mr. Lowden, who doesn't want "the dictatorship of either the fascist or protetariat type of government," knows of course, that our government, itself, is "imported." A "piece" written or recited in Greek before the beginning of the Christian era is supposed to have served as Jefferson's model in writing the Declaration of Independence.

Europe supplied our government ideas. But we made our choice and don't want it changed. That is the Republican stand; but it will be hard to make Democrats rally around any Republican standard until they finish rallying around the good Democratic $4,480,000,000 cash fund.

IMPORTANT TO the human race is news of the "brain bath," which, according to physicians gathered at a convention of the American and Canadian medical associations, literally "washes the brain," freeing it from the poison of diseases such as infantile paralysis, St. Vitus dance, sleeping sickness, and some kinds of spinal meningitis.

A solution of salt and water is injected into the vein at the ankle. After it has gone through the circulation, and washed out the brain, it is withdrawn, with its collected poisons, through a needle inserted in the lower end of the spine.

EXTRAORDINARY CURES are reported by reputable physicians. The wise that know how to advertise will investigate a "new, nonpoisonous destroyer of germs," which is 250 times more powerful than carbolic acid, yet so harmless to human tissue that you might drink it. All that is to the glory of medical science.

An attempt to establish in various states a system of health insurance, and to make good medical care available for the poor, is characterized by some of the medical gentlemen as "vicious, dangerous, deceptive and demoralizing."

There is not so much glory in that, for it sounds as though some medical gentlemen were afraid of losing fees. Those that are afraid amount to little as doctors. Real science fears nothing except ignorance.

F. H. ECKER, head of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, has investigated, through his actuaries, the life prospects of the little Dionne quintuplets. It is probable that one of the tiny girls may reach the age of 83. Each one, taken separtely, may reasonably expect to live 65 years.

At the same time, because of life's uncertainties, which, for girl babies, include the risks of motherhood, the total lives of the little five, all put together, will only amount to about 195 years.

May their lives, long or short, be happy and each of the little girls find a good husband, with a kind heart, and a good mind, and have at least six children.

LAST NIGHT a great air "clipper" ship was to leave Alameda, Cal., on its way across the Pacific to Midway Islands, 4,000 miles out, with a stop at Hawaii.

We are so used to marvels of the air that this beginning of regular service across the Pacific is hardly worth mentioning, except to mention the fact that it IS hardly worth mentioning.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and ¾ of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1934, C.M.Co.

Burgess Is Disappointed

Action Of Council At Vandergrift Is Displeasing To Him

BURGESS STILL IN HOSPITAL HERE

"It is disappointing," said Burgess John Grimm of Vandergrift, Pa., today in his room in the Jameson Memorial hospital, commenting upon the action of the Vandergrift council Tuesday night. The council rejected by a 7-6 vote a resolution to support the business men who are going into the Dauphin county court in an effort to overthrow the 40-year-old restrictions against licensed liquor sales in Vandergrift.

"The meeting was a star chamber session," said Burgess Grimm, "and I am against such methods of doing business. Public business should be transacted in a public manner and not behind closed doors. When the resolution was first discussed the council voted 11 to 5 to have it drawn. Apparently two of the council went over to the other side and some friends of the resolution did not attend the meeting as there are 18 members of council."

The resolution would have no effect except to indicate the position of the boro council in the matter. under the deeds to land in Vandergrift drawn by the founders of the boro, George McMurtrie and Captain J. A. Vandergrift, no liquor was to be sold in the boro.

Recently the State Liquor Control board withdrew licenses in Vandergrift because of the old provision. It is this provision that the business men are endeavoring to upset.

Arson Case Is Taken By Jury

Edenburg Man Is Accused In Connection With House Being Fired

(BULLETIN)

Verdict of guilty was returned by the jury this afternoon.

The case of Charles Wellendorf, charged with arson in connection with three attempts to burn a vacant house, belonging to Gertrude Medine at Edenburg, which was taken up before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning, went to the jury shortly before noon.

The house was set on fire from the outside. The fires were all discovered and extinguished before much damage was done. After the second fire, M. W. Downing and his son, Robert Downing, who lived near by, kept watch.

While they did not actually see the building fired the third time they testified that they had seen Wellendorf in the vicinity shortly before the fire.

Wellendorf denied that he had anything to do with setting the building on fire, claiming that he was not financially interested in it and could have no object in trying to burn it down. He had admitted that he had been out of his home on the morning when the fire was discovered, but claimed he had been to a small building on his lot.

Y.M.C.A. Summer Events Will Keep Boys Rushing; 'Nickel Swims' To Start

New Castle's Y. M. C. A., with its annual "Learn-to-Swim" course now nearing completion, was prepared today to inaugurate a program of well-planned summer activities which will include side features during the annual Camp Fred L. Rentz camping season.

When the swimming instruction ends for the merry host of youngsters in the Y pool next Saturday afternoon, the association will launch its annual "nickel swims" for boys who hold no membership in the Y. M. C. A.

The "nickel swims," Physical Director Henry T. MacNicholas announces, commence Monday, June 17 and will continue every Monday, Thursday and Friday throughout the summer.

In connection with the boys' nickel swims will be nickel swims for girls which will be held every Wednesday commencing June 19.

Hobby School Arranged

Another hobby and handicraft school will be sponsored by the association commencing June 17, MacNicholas also said.

Crafts which will be included in the course of instruction will be brass tapping, art stone work and model airplane building. Along with this school the regular four-fold program of the Y will be conducted.

Classes will be held in the mornings on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for two weeks. Boys who are eligible for this school may register by paying a small fee to pay for materials needed in the craft school. June 14 is the last day for registering. Regular instructors will have charge of the craft classes and local ministers will have charge of the Bible school division of the school.

Camp Fred L. Rentz, opening July 2, will run for five weeks this year. Four weeks will be devoted to regular camping and one to underprivileged boys. More than 37 boys have already registered for the season and by next week the capacity of 56 boys is expected to be signed.

Hobby work will have a place on the camp program this year with experienced counsellers in charge.

JAMBOREE TROOP MEETS TONIGHT

Session Will Be First For Boy Scouts Awaiting Washington Trip

The role of Lawrence county's special Boy Scout troop at the mammoth Boy Scout jamboree in Washington, D. C., from August 21 to 30 will be discussed when boys of the troop meet with their leaders at a designated point near East New Castle at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The troop, which will officially represent the Lawrence council, now consists of 32 boys and three leaders. Another scout is to be added later.

The troop will join 35,000 other scouts from all over the nation and from foreign countries when they gather along the banks of the historic Potomac in a temporary community which will have its own water, communication and transportation systems and boast a newspaper of its own.

Boys in the local troop represent various troops of the county.

Scout Executive Chester H. Childs, who is assisting local men with arrangements, announced the Mercer county delegation will travel to Washington aboard a special Pennsylvania railroad train out of Sharon on the morning of August 17. The same train will carry other delegations from the valley towns and Pittsburgh.

At tonight's first session the boys will talk plans for the thrilling adventure the jamboree promises to be.

Earle "submit in writing" information supporting the executive's charge "ugly rumors" existed that unidentified senators had changed their stand on the chain store tax.

The governor's charge, made at a conference with the finance committee yesterday, carried implications a "slush" fund might have been used to kill the bill in the upper branch.

An immediate vote on the resolution was blocked by Democratic Floor Leader Warren Roberts, Northampton, who said he desired to amend the resolution to provide for a senate probe of the governor's charges.

"It seems strange that some members who were once for the bill are now among its outstanding opponents," the governor told the finance committee.

"These ugly rumors may be entirely without foundation," he admitted, "but for the sake of your own reputation I suggest you investigate them," he advised.

Britain Shows Anxiety Over Japanese Move

"Open Door" In China Is Being Closed To U. S. And England

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(World Copyright 1935 by International News Service)

LONDON, June 12.—Britain, with most to lose by a Japanese conquest of China, proclaimed in headlines that "America, anxiously watching event in the Far East, is looking to Britain for co-operation."

But the fact is that Britain's anxiety grows greater and greater as news arrives that China is surrendering to Japan her ancient capital of Peiping and the great port of Tientsin.

It is Britain, too, who is looking to America for co-operation, but not hopefully.

Another "open door" to China is being closed to British and American business men, but Britain's fleet is anchored in home waters by suspicion of Germany and Italy.

The league of nations, involved in an effort to keep Italy out of Abyssinia, is not expected to repeat its impotent attempt to check Japan.

Hence a spirit of resignation, tempered by wistful glances at America, inspires the reaction here to the newest Japanese step.—A step towards mastery of Asia.

The British cannot move; the league won't; and the British realize, as Bertrand Russel puts it, that the United States has not sufficient interests in China and Manchuria to bring about such a difficult war as would be involved in challenging Japan."

Russell, England's leading living thinker, exclaims that Japan is on her way towards becoming "the most powerful nation in the world, with the possible exception of the United States."

He declares that within a few years China will become a Japanese protectorate.

The British, he says, although they have suffered most from Japanese inroads, "do not move because they would immediately lose Hongkong and Singapore, and because they fear what Japan might do in India."

Military observers here consider that Japan's latest move indicates a decisive change in her national strategy.

At first, she intended to conquer Manchuria, then seize Eastern Siberia. But the Soviet union, in two years of swift preparation, created along the Manchurian border such a formidable air threat to Japanese cities that Tokio altered her plan.

Now, it is evident that Japan intends to ignore Siberia until she has completed the conquest of China, and her seizure of Pieping and Tientsin is regarded as final proof of this contention.

Although painfully bruised, X-rays revealed no broken bones had been suffered.

On Court House Hill

County Commissioners have learned that borings are now being made by the state highway department to ascertain the nature of soil at Edenburg, where a bridge and viaduct are likely to be erected. The borings will show what kind of a foundation will be necessary for the abutments of the bridge and the foundations for the viaduct. There is some questions as to whether or not the department will be able to go ahead with the bridge as funds are said to be getting low.

Nine jurors summoned for the present week of quarter sessions court were unable to serve and were excused. They were Paul Butch, Mahoning township, Henry G. Eise, second ward; James Gault, Slippery Rock township; Edwin L. Hainer, second ward; Joseph F. McCormick, sixth ward; Joseph Mutter, Union township; D. G. Stokes, fourth ward; Mayme Woods, North Beaver township and James Wright, Perry township. Some of the jurors were unable to serve on account of sickness in their families and others by reason of work problems.

The old rate of four per cent interest on Public Works Administration loans, has been re-instated under the four billion work program. The four percent rate was in effect when Lawrence county was considering a new court house, but it was afterwards reduced. It is said that it has been re-instated in order to attract private capital to finance the expenditures not donated by the Federal government.

An application for divorce has been filed at the prothonotary's office by William M. Stevenson of Slippery Rock township, who wants a separation from his wife, Helen Frances Stevenson, now said to be a resident of Johnstown. The couple were married in November, 1921. Desertion and adultery are alleged as grounds for the divorce.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts and the county commissioners are hoping to get enough of the 1935 taxes in by July 1st to take care of a $30,000 bond maturity on that date. Taxes have been coming in fairly good, since the tax cards were sent out. The county also borrowed about $80,000 from the banks, pending the collection of 1935 taxes and this amount will be taken care of out of the first money to come in. Owing to the reduction in the tax millage this year, it will be necessary to operate on an economical basis.

It was indicated in the first "numbers case" taken up that character witnesses will likely play an important part in the trial of other cases. Defendants in the first case did not go upon the witness stand, but relied on what their friends and neighbors knew about them to establish their reputations. Many who are called as character witnesses do not undertsand the method of procedure in the examinations. Attorneys first ask the witness if they knew the accused; then if they know the persons with whom the accused associates.

The next question is, "Do you know the reputation of the accused?" Most of the witnesses answer "yes, it is good" to this question, but the answer to this question should be simply "yes." Then when the attorney asks, "What is it?" the witness should answer, "good" or "bad" as the case may be. The same end is accomplished either way, but the customary method is to answer with one word to the first question, and then one to the second.

The character of a man who lives an honest, upright life, is seldom discussed, and it is often somewhat difficult for a witness to say whether or not he has ever heard it discussed. Some attorneys maintain that the very fact that a man or woman's reputation is not discussed, is the best kind of evidence that it is good. It is invariably when conduct is bad that people do their talking.

There are now thirty-six inmates in the county jail, according to Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor. Of this number 34 are men and 2 are women. Many of the defendants in cases are out on bail.

WHO'LL WANT A CAR WITHOUT THESE FEATURES a year from now?

Body All of Steel . . . Police-tested Brakes . . . The Electric Hand . . . Proved Performance and Economy

"Good luck . . . and good driving!"

TERRAPLANE . . . with most that's really new today . . . has most to insure top trade-in value

Here is something important to think about when you're buying your new car. What will it be worth a year from now . . . or two years? Will it still be modern . . . will it have the features that buyers are demanding? That's what will decide its trade-in value.

Steel—for Safety!

Experts are agreed, for one thing, that no car will be up to date without a body that's all of steel. Safety requires it; the public will demand it. Yet Terraplane is the only lowest price car today that's steel through and through—sides, floor, roof and sturdy inner structure.

Safe stopping is steadily becoming more important! The Terraplane has already brought you five years of brake advancement in this one year. Hudson's big police-tested brakes have cut police requirements for perfect stopping almost in half in public demonstrations from coast to coast.

All car buyers want easier, safer driving, without troublesome gear shifting! It's already here, in Terraplane—the only car in the lowest price field that offers you the Electric Hand*. Thousands call this the greatest single improvement of 1935.

Proved Performance!

Performance, it is safe to say, will be steadily improved in all cars. But Terraplane already gives record-breaking performance—and proves it. Engineers are working continuously for ways to increase gasoline economy. But Terraplane proved its amazing economy this year in a series of nation-wide economy runs.

You get these, and many more important advancements in Terraplane now. Terraplane, with most that is really new today, has most to keep it modern—to insure its future trade-in value.

Drive a 1935 Terraplane. See for yourself how far ahead of its time it is—in style, as well as performance, ruggedness, safety. Compare it, as a long-term investment in motoring satisfaction, with any other car anywhere near its price.

*Electric Hand optional at small extra cost

MRS. CLARENCE R. DAVIDSON
R. #2, Mishawaka, Indiana

"When I was a young girl, the Vegetable Compound helped me. I am working hard now in a factory. One night, coming home I was so nervous I wanted to scream. I bought a bottle of your medicine. My husband remarked last night of the difference he sees in me. I am a cheerful, joking, young girl once more."

Was Nervous and Rundown

"I was nervous and rundown. When I got up in the morning I felt too tired to do my work. I had such backache and soreness in my stomach I was always full of gas. Since I took the Vegetable Compound I am like a new person. I feel well and strong to take care of my big home and two children." Mrs. Amelia Otto, 3626 Fifth Street, Brooklyn, Maryland.

Pirates Advance To Second Place

Cincinnati Trims Giants Twice As Guy Bush Hurls Pittsburgh To Victory

INDIANS DROP TWO BATTLES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 12.—Stock in Joe Cronin's Boston Red Sox took a decided boom today as an aftermath of the five-hit pitching of Lefty Grove against Mickey Cochrane's Tigers.

Since the start of the season ball players of other clubs have said Grove was all washed up, that he had lost his stuff and that he'd be lucky to win ten games.

Two Five-Hitters

But Lefty must have had something more than a glove and a prayer to hold the Tigers to 5 hits and if that performance is a criterion of his real ability, the Red Sox will have to be considered a serious contender.

Lefty had to be good for the Sox got only six hits off Sullivan, Auker and Hogsett but he came through 3 to 1 and in the nightcap, Wes Ferrell duplicated his five-hit effort to win, 5 to 2 against old General Crowder.

Rowe Has Son

As the American League stands today, every team except the Browns must be considered to have a fair chance at the pennant. The Tigers are far down the list but a sustained winning streak could easily put them on top and the team has too much class to remain long where they are. Auker and Rowe have been disappointments. An excuse for Rowe's mediocre work came to light yesterday in the birth of a son to his wife. The young man may have been worried as other men have been before him in similar circumstances.

The writer recalls one year Hack Wilson, then a Giant, worried so much over prospective parenthood that the late John J. McGraw was forced to send him to Toledo.

The A's improved their position by taking a pair from the Indians, 4-2 and 5-1, with Blaeholder and Mahaffey in the points against Hudlin and Brown. The A's settled the second game by building all their runs in the first heat around the 15th homer of Bob Johnson. If old Connie Mack ever gets a little consistently good pitching he'll breeze through those other teams.

Yanks Win Two

The Yanks won a pair from the Browns, 7-4 and 9-3, with Ruffing and Tamulis operating and the Senators split with the White Sox, by taking the opener 9-8 and dropping the second, 9-3.

Simmon's homer with three aboard was wasted in the first game but his next with two on helped cop the second tilt. Babe Phelps, an old Dodger who learned his stuff under Uncle Wilbur Robinson, went the route for the Sox in their winning game.

The Reds threw a bomb in Bill Terry's dugout by taking a pair from the Giants, 4-1, and 3-1, behind the seven hit pitching of Tony Freitas and the five hit tossing of Leroy Hermann. This was quite a shock to the natives who expected to see the Giants win as they pleased.

Pirates Win

The Pirates bunched eight hits on Uncle Tom Zachary to trim the Dodgers, 4 to 0, the victory moving them into a tie with the idle Cards for second place. Guy Bush kept the Dodgers' seven hits well spread.

The Cubs ran into a rude surprise in Philadelphia where the Phils plastered them 10 to 4, despite two homers by Galan and one by Hartnett off Syl Johnson.

The Cubs don't seem to have enough to oust either Cards, Giants or Pirates but the addition of Brandt and Berger from the Braves surely would make them serious threats. Nothing is more certain than that the Cubs will make a tremendous bid to get either or both before the week is out.

Illegal Bass Anglers Destroy Future Fishing

HARRISBURG, June 12.—Branding the practice of taking bass from Pennsylvania waters when they are guarding eggs or young at this time of the year as "the unsportsmanlike and destructive practice in fishing in our state," the Fish commission warned today that any individual caught with bass in possession prior to opening of the season on July 1 will be prosecuted to the limit.

The bass spawning period in Keystone state waters usually occurs from June 1 to June 18 or 20, and it is a comparatively simple matter for even a novice at fishing to take the parent fish from their nests.

The male parent of both the smallmouth and largemouth bass protects the eggs and young fish. Hovering over the nest, he will strike at any object that approaches. Even a bare hook falling on the nest is taken into the mouth of the parent fish and carried away. This remarkable parental instinct of protection makes the adult fish easy prey for illegal fishermen during the spawning period, and when a bass been taken from the nest, destruction of from 2000 to 5000 eggs or young fish is the result.

There is little excuse for fishing live bait or plugs in bass waters at the present time, the commission pointed out, for wall-eyed pike, pickerel and muskellunge, game fishes usually taken by these methods of fishing, do not come in season until the opening of the bass season on July 1.

Indianapolis Winner Would Try For Speed Record; Needs $50,000 Backing

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 12—Kelly Petillo, who won the Indianapolis speedway classic, announced here today he was out to beat the 276.3 mile an hour speed record set by Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Petillo says all he needs is $50,000 backing. He says he'll furnish the speed if he can get the backing. Petillo, who for a time averaged 110 miles an hour at the Indianapolis race, said he believed the Great Salt Lake Basin near Saldurd, Utah, was a better place than Daytona Beach for fast driving. He claimed it had a harder and faster surface.

Campbell is now tuning up his Bluebird for another whack at old man speed, hoping to make more than 300 miles an hour.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

J. B. Steinford, DuBois, visited here yesterday in connection with the promotion of a V. F. W. boxing show to be held in the high school stadium of that city July 4. Steinford has gone promoters one better. Most of them are satisfied when they sign Jack Dempsey but Steinford also signed Leo Houck of Lancaster to help Dempsey do the third manning. In addition he is trying to make arrangements to have George Chip, former middleweight champion and Johnny Kilbane, former featherweight king appear at the ringside. Sammy Crocetti and Jackie Wilson are on the card for one 10 round bout and the other half will be fought by Tiger Joe Randall and Paul Ogar. When Steinford visited here yesterday he was accompanied by Paul Mack, a former West Side resident.

Jimmie Dime believes Jimmie Braddock has a chance with Max Baer because he can hit. Dime does not believe that Braddock will win unless he catches Baer on the chin. Tom McMahon believes that Braddock will win the fight at Long Island and the writer believes that Baer will deliver the knockout punch about the eighth or ninth round.

Landis Suffering With Cold, Delays Decision On Pitts

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 12.—Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, was still suffering from a cold today and gave no indication of when he would hear the case of Alabama Pitts, former convict banned from playing with the Albany club of the International league.

The judge's secretary expected to receive today a copy of all records in the case. These were asked from Warren Giles of Rochester, N. Y., chairman of the executive committee of the Minor league clubs.

Baer-Braddock End Training

Heavyweights Await Gong In New York Arena Thursday Night, Tunney May Referee

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 12—The first heavyweight title fight in a year was only a little more than 24 hours away today.

When planned some few months ago and up until a few days back the fight was generally regarded as a set-up for the champion, Max Baer. In the last few days, however, there has been a sharp swing in sentiment to the challenger, Jimmy Braddock, although no one seems to know why.

Baer Favord

Certainly no comparative records, the likeable Braddock doesn't figure to have more than the most outside of chances against the terrific punching Baer.

A great deal of the Braddock favor probably can be traced to wishful thinking.

Meanwhile the question of a referee for the battle remains unanswered. Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, stormed out of the boxing commission offices yesterday with a threat to refuse to allow Baer to fight if the third man in the ring tomorrow is not satisfactory to him.

It was learned, incidentally, that Baer had failed to post a $2,500 forfeit guaranteeing his appearance in the ring tomorrow night, thereby creating a situation virtually unprecedented in heavyweight title history.

Hoffman Names Five

Hoffman named five men whom he said would be acceptable to him as referee and asked the commission to name one of them.

They are:

Gene Tunney, former heavyweight champion.

George V. Blake, generally regarded as the best referee in the game.

Lieut. Com. Jess Kenworthy, USN, hero of the Macon disaster and well known Pacific coast referee.

Ed. W. Dickerson, Grand Rapids sports writer.

Lieut. Jack Kennedy, USN.

The commission's answer to Hoffman was that none but New York referees would be considered for the assignment. None of those named by Hoffman have licenses to referee in New York state.

Bonthron Breaks 21-Year Record

(International News Service)

PRINCETON, N. J., June 12.—Bill Bonthron, former Nassau express, unofficially smashed a 21-year old record in the 660-yard dash on the fast Palmer Stadium track here Saturday, it was learned today.

Tuning up for the invitation mile with Jack Lovelock, New Zealand ace, Bonthron flashed over the distance in 1:20 flat, lowering Homer Baker's 1914 record by .4 of a second. Later in the day, Lovelock, striding easily, tore over the same distance in the very good time of 1:21.1.

We are not going through the breakup of the social system, as some state, but rather the mental revolution of new ideals.

Stock Market Is Unsettled

Market Pays Little Attention To Senate Action On Holding Companies

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 12.—The stock market today paid only passing attention to the senate's passage of the Holding Company bill.

There was some heavy selling in utility shares in the early dealings and the rest of the list was somewhat unsettled. This was quickly overcome, however, by resumption of aggressive buying in motors, rails and blue chips and a number of issues went to new highs for the year.

Losses in utilities ran to more than 2 points in early dealings.

American Can was the star performers, jumping more than 3 points to a new high since 1930 after opening lower. Other strong blue chips were Eastman Kodak, Allied Chemical and DuPont, with gains running to a point and more.

Motor Stocks Rise

Chrysler again led the motors rising more than a point. General Motors and the others were slightly better.

Atchison was strong and active in the rails, rising nearly 2 points, and Great Northern again figured in heavy dealings. The rest of the carrier list pointed higher.

Commodities were generally easier, with silver, grains and cotton down. Bonds were mixed, utilities giving ground and rails advancing. Gold currencies showed renewed weakness in foreign exchanges.

Mining shares were inclined to mark time. Silvers were little influenced by the decline in the metal. Coppers and golds were quiet.

U. S. Steel was active and higher at times but failed to carry far, affected somewhat by the new decline in the industry's opertaions. Other steel shares were steady.

International Harvester was the strong spot in the farm equipments. Mail orders were fractionally higher. Little of consequence developed in the aviations, while tobaccos were in demand. General Electric and Westinghouse were active and higher. Liquors were firm.

He stated that it taught self-reliance, gave a sense of responsibility, developed initiative, and its constructive influence is a decided boom to the country. The cost to keep this up is small as compared to the cost that it can prevent. The speaker also told of the Jamboree to be held in Washington in August. Lawrence county is sending 33 boys there.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Tuesday

MR. AND MRS. WM. E. HALL

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12.—Many friends from all walks of life and relatives from far and near, came to honor Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hall, of Crescent avenue, on their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday. Over 200 called throughout the day to extend their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hall who held open house.

Flowers were in profusion about the home and many gifts were received by the honored couple from their hosts of admiring friends and relatives.

The festivities of the day began with a delicious dinner at noon. Covers were laid for the honor guests, members of the immediate family, a few special guests, and those who attended the wedding or reception 50 years ago. In the latter group were Mrs. Belle Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boozel, Mrs. Orville Bollinger, Mrs. Sadie Allen, and Mrs. Agnes Hall. All in all there were covers for 45, at this time. The home and dining room was beautifully decorated for this occasion in a gold and white color scheme with garden flowers as additional appointments.

An interesting program was carried out after dinner with C. Ches Hall presiding as toastmaster. The feature was an appropriate address by the Rev. R. H. Little, pastor of the local M. E. church, who congratulated the honor guests on their achievement and for setting an example of clean, honest, and Christian living.

The remainder of the day was spent in an informal social manner with visiting, chat, and games as friends and neighbors called. Refreshments were served these guests by the ladies of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall are pioneer residents of Ellwood City coming here in 1895. Mr. Hall was born in 1862 at Halston, Butler county, where he spent his early life. He married Elizabeth Cross on June 11, 1885, at Jacksville, Butler county. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Brown. Eight couples witnessed this and participated in the large reception after, in which many friends joined.

They have made their home here for the past 40 years. Four children were in the family Jesse Porter, deceased, Lee Edward, of Detroit, Mich., J. A., Hall, at home, and C. Ches Hall, of Sixth street. There are also seven grand children. Mr. and Mrs. Hall are staunch members of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Hall was affiliated with the local National Tube plant for 36 years. For 14 years he was chief engineer. He has been retired for the past three years. Mr. Hall is an active member of the local Elks and Odd Fellows lodges. Mrs. Hall is a member of the Maccabbe club.

Mr. Hall astonished his guests last evening when he belittled his 73 years of age by doing a jig in a rather spry fashion. Dart baseball was enjoyed by the guests in the back yard. It was a memorable and impressive day for Mr. and Mrs. Hall who expressed their appreciation for the kindness, consideration, and courtesy shown them.

Funeral Rites For George W. Gibbons

ELLWOOD CITY, June 12—Funeral services for George W. Gibbons of Wurtemburg, whose death occurred very suddenly on Sunday afternoon at his home, were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church. The services were in charge of Rev. R. E. Bell of the Knox Presbyterian church and Rev. J. E. Caughey of the Wurtemburg U. P. church.

The large attendance of friends and relatives at the services and the many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem of which he was held, having been a prominent resident of this district for more than forty years.

Mrs. Paul Kimmell and Mrs. William Slade sang two beautiful selections, "Going Down the Valley" and "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder."

Immediate survivors are: His widow, Mrs. Mary Gibbons; one son, Clifford, of Wurtemburg; a sister, Mrs. Carrie Shields, of Portland, Ore., and two brothers, Phillip of Freewater, Ore., and Frank of New Castle, and two grandchildren.

Interment was made in the church cemetery with J. A. Pearson, J. H. Newton, Frank Baker, Arthur Hazen, Landis Roeloff and Clarence Wallace as pallbearers.

Wild Debate In House Session

Lower Branch Of State Legislature Has Tumultous Meeting

NORMALCY BACK THIS MORNING

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, June 12.—Following a night of wild disorder and almost riotous outbreaks unsurpassed since 1921 when a rump session ousted Rep. Robert S. Spangler, York, as speaker, the house returned to normalcy today and prepared to act on a massive calendar of bills.

Scenes unrivalled in recent years ensued as Republicans and Democrats fought over a motion to reconsider the vote by which the Ominsky bill reforming the Philadelphia magisterial system had been defeated. After hours of wild debate the vote was reconsidered and the bill was finally passed and sent to the senate 115 to 74.

The Moore bill permitting hotels, clubs and restaurants to sell packaged liquor for consumption off the premises when the state liquor stores are closed was before the house today for final passage as a special order of business.

The two bills revamping the beer and liquor laws, allowing hard liquor drinking over bars and transferring beer licensing from county treasurers to the liquor board, were approved and sent to the senate by the house yesterday afternoon. The bills make many other changes in the present law and liberalize the liquor board's powers.

During debate on the Ominsky bill Speaker Wilson G. Sarig left the rostrum when Rep. Morton J. Witkin, Philadelphia, Republican floor leader, appealed from an opinion by the chair upholding a motion shutting off debate.

Acting Speaker Hiram G. Andrews, Cambria, upheld Sarig's ruling, and a last minute agreement between Republicans and Democrats averted the calling of another member to preside during a threatened appeal from Andrew's action.

At one time Republican, shouting together, drowned out the Democratic majority on a roll call and Andrews, acting speaker, was forced to halt the clerks because of the din. At another time Witkin and Andrews sought to shout out each other, Witkin vainly screa...ing "Mr. Speaker" while Andrews, in a still louder voice, was calling off the names of legislators who seconded the motion of Rep. Clayton E. Moul, York, calling for a vote and shutting off debate.

Finally, with the help of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, Ruth, Sarig, Kitkin and Andrews, the two battling groups came to an agreement. Moul withdrew his motion shutting off debate and Witkin withdrew his appeal from Sarig's ruling. The Republicans then spoke against the Ominsky bill for two hours after which it was passed in orderly fashion.

"I want to thank the members of the house for the much needed rest and recreation," Sarig said as he returned to the rostrum when Witkin withdrew his appeal. This bit of humor came at a psychologically perfect time and dissipated in a moment all the bitterness and partisanship of the evening as the members sat back and laughed while the tenseness disappeared.

Author Given Doctor Degree

Dr. William E. Brooks Honored By Westminster College Wins Literary Accord

In the rush of events attending the commencement exercises of Westminster College this week, the fact was almost overlooked that among the honorary degree awards was one to a gentleman who has recently won distinction in the field of biography, Rev. William E. Brooks, of Morgantown, W. Va.

Rev. Brooks was awarded the degree of doctor of literature, and no degree was ever more thoroughly deserved. He recently completed the "Life of Lee", a work covering the life and activities of General Robert E. Lee, leader of the Confederacy in the Civil War.

Commentators have showered encomiums upon the work. It has been compared to Beveridge's "Life of Lincoln" and is said to be the finest book of its kind to be written in America in many years. Dr. Brooks gathered material for his book for 20 years, but the painstaking efforts to gather accurate material are shown in the completeness of the book.

He is a graduate of Westminster College in the class of 1900. Among his classmates are Judge James A. Chambers and Attorney Homer C. Drake. During the time he was here attending the commencement Dr. Brooks stayed at the home of Judge and Mrs. Chambers.

He is now gathering material for two other works of similar character, one to deal with the life of General Ulysses S. Grant and General "Stonewall" Jackson. He took back with him data dealing with the late Col. Oscar L. Jackson, who is thought to be a kinsman of the famous southern general.

For several years Dr. Brooks has been a pastor in Morgantown, W. Va.
